President Krygsman

Dear students;

Welcome to this year's edition of Anno Domini. It always is a privilege to participate in your memories of your time at Redeemer, and especially of the 2013-14 academic year at Redeemer University College. Thanks to our editor, Stephanie Kiers, and our yearbook team for their work on this year's Anno Domini, and indeed to all of those who contributed to make Redeemer the vibrant Christian learning community that it is.

This has been an amazing roller-coaster year at Redeemer. We began the year with 909 students (865 FTE), significantly down from the previous year, resulting in some budget challenges. We know that many in our community have struggled this year with various personal struggles and worries. And we have had the most brutal winter experienced in southern Ontario in many years, leading to another week-long power outage over the Christmas break when, thankfully, most students were away from campus. Yet there were high points as well, among them our celebration of the news that our Ontario students now qualify for the Ontario Tuition Grant, and the wonderful lectures presented by Andy Crouch reminding us that as image-bearers of God we are called to shape culture in ways that allow all creatures to flourish.

These and other blessings remind us that we are people of hope, which itself is a gift of the Spirit living and embodied in us. Our theme for the year has focused on being rooted in Christ and bearing good fruit that blesses all those around us. While we and our world today certainly need all of those fruits, it desperately needs a special measure of hope that comes from the good news of Christ and through we who embody His grace in our world.

During the past four years I have enjoyed getting to know our students, and also our alumni and their families. I am increasingly impressed and inspired to learn what our students and alumni do in embodying Christ in the world here and beyond Redeemer. Ultimately, Redeemer's story and accomplishments are told in the lives of our alumni – and that story is a beautiful one of leadership and service in witness to God's grace.

Especially if you are graduating or finishing your time at Redeemer this year, my prayer is that you will continue to live in the hope that you have learned, and that you will use all of the gifts that you have developed to embody that hope in ways that abundantly bless all those you encounter in your various walks of life.

Yours always in Christ;
Hubert R. Krygsman, President

Food Drive

Each year Redeemer hosts a can food drive for the Neighbour to Neighbour Centre in Hamilton. Before school even starts RAs and HAs are put to work delivering the collection bags for nonperishable items to many houses in Ancaster. As an activity for LAUNCH, first years are sent out for their first encounter of the Ancaster neighbourhood. A good time is had by all, as students get to know one another and pick up donations along the way. This year we donated 10,300lbs!

The Redeemer community once again gathered together for the seventh annual Battle of the Bands. Each of the six acts was quite unique and talented. The acts included The Number Stations, Simon Fallon, That's My Girl, To Our Divide, Loud 'n Clear, and the returning winners The Lanterns.

In the end, To Our Divide featuring, Daniel "Longtalk" Jumaquio, Dan "The Man" Vanden Boogard, Timon "Mailman" Moolman, Tristan "Woo Boy" Persaud, and Arizona "Flapjack" Jackson won The People's Choice. "Inish was a wonderful piece to play with. Beneath the layers of comedy is a series of serious questions about life in turn-of-the century Ireland, theatre, and the way we reflect ourselves in our community. This very young ensemble grew into the questions and the laughter of the play with excitement and laughter."

- Ray Louter

Love's Labour's Lost

YOLO! You Only Live Once. This was the theme for this year's Church in the Box, and I can say it had a significant impact on me this year in my time as President. In the world, and according to actor Jack Black, this phrase can be described as "carpe diem" for stupid people." But as Christians, we can redeem this phrase for good. For us, YOLO doesn't mean go out and do whatever you want. It means take the chance, because you might not have it again. We don't get a do-over. So live life to its fullest while you can. Jesus best exemplified this phrase in his life; he took the time not to serve himself, but to help others and then gave up his life for us.

This year, Senate had some YOLO moments in serving students. We shook things up, having the Rec Center renovations completed, eliminating paper during meetings, decorating the Senate Office, and coming up with radically different ideas as to how to reach students and pique their interest. We had new activities from the SASC and Activities committee, and had a blast putting it all together for all of you. We wanted to make sure that we made positive changes happen while we could, and not let opportunities to serve and make things better pass us by.

As this year closes, whether you be in your first year or last or somewhere in between, I would encourage you to live out the spirit of YOLO in light of Christ. Take advantage of what is available to you wherever you are, and seize the day. Don't let a single moment go to waste and live every day like it could be your last, because you never know where life will take you. Serve God passionately where you are, and don't give into the temptation of leaving things to "later," because later may never come. You Only Live Once. Live to the glory of God, and stay Rooted in the Tree of Life, wherever you find yourself.

- Danica Thomsen, Student Senate President 2013-2014

Thanks so much to the layout staff who made putting the yearbook together a possible task. I also want to thank the photography for attending events and taking pictures, to the students who sent pictures in for various pages and those who contributed in other ways.

It has been a wonderful year at Redeemer and I was excited to take on the role of editor. This has been a great opportunity to grow and learn and I have been blessed through this position.

~Stephanie
